COMMERCIAL POLICY OF FRANCE,

AND

The Treaty with England of 1860.

---

THE effects of the Treaty of Commerce of 1860, between England and France, upon the intercourse of the two countries, and of the commercial policy of which that treaty was the beginning, upon the progress and prosperity of France, are well known to all who have had the opportunity of investigating the facts. But at a time when the financial exigencies of France have led to a discussion of measures which would profoundly modify the conditions of her foreign trade, and check her material development, it is essential that a knowledge of those facts should be brought home to the minds of the people of both countries, and be diffused as widely as possible.

It is for this reason that the Cobden Club has caused the following brief statistical summary to be
