Viewing task

Task 3. Watch the first episode of the film and fill in the missing phrases in the following dialogues.

At the police station
(Miss Mactaggart: and sergeant)

.....

1) MMct: I come to see you about my grave.

S: Jannie Mactaggart? And.. and.. and what are you doing here?

MMct: Why shouldn't I be here?

S: But you're _____. We _____ you.

MMct: So it seems I'm feeling just _____.

S: Are you _____ or something not a woman.

MMct: O sergeant can't do and take it off all my old bag and my death cat, sergeant.

S: As you ,yourself Janie ,than who on Earth we were burring a week ago?

2) MMct: Awfully like me.

S: Aha, exactly like you.

MMct: Oh, sergeant Mccant, no, no.

S: Whoevre she was? Jannie. She died on her own doorstep. The doctor said it was _____.

MMct: Sergeant , I have _____ here that I think it'll explain it.

My dear Jannie.... Well, this bit is personal. And so we meet again for the first time in 30 years. I have so much to tell you and so much to hear from you. Your loving sister.

So, you see, sergeant McClaut it was my _____ that died and you _____ here when I was away in _____.

S: Dear, I'm that sorry.

MMct: Thank you, sergeant. Wee, I've arranged to have the head _____ changed and if you'll just change _____ in the book and see to putting the record state.

S: Change the records... You see, that's not easy, it is not my department. You'd rather talk to Mr. Morrison.

MMct: _____ Morrison?

S: Ehh – _____ Mr. Morrison.

3) Miss Mactaggart and Mr. Morrison

MMct: Good morning, Mr. Morrison.

MM: Good morning, madam. I have heard you come back to life, the whole village knows now, but you've scared _____ a few people. They took you for _____.

MMt: I admit I found their attitude was a little puzzling at first, but that's all over now. I would like you to make it official.

MM: Oh, ... well... I suppose it's a considerable problem. There is an ancient French law which was _____ by James the Scotland.

It says that once a death certificate is _____ and entries are made (in the records) and there is no way on Earth for changing it. In your case your death certificate is recorded here, in _____ and in _____. Ha, ha ... It's quite delinquent. That is the law!

MMt: It's a very silly law it doesn't allow for mistakes.

MM: Maybe so, that's not for me to question it.

MMt: As far as what you see is Jannie Mactaggart. That's me who has no legal identity, in fact, that the law is considered. I'm not alive.

MM: Regreat, perhaps, that's a situation.

MMt: Mr. Morrison, to leave a person without her identity is to leave her without _____. I will not _____ this.

MM: I'm afraid you have to, Madam.

MMt: You've started the process by calling me Madam. You've knowing me for _____ years as Jannie Mactaggart.

MM: that's the name I wrote on the _____.

MMt: Mr. Morrison!

MM: A, a, a?

MMt: Mr. Morrison, suppose I would _____ . How would you set about _____ and _____ and _____ a person who doesn't exist?

MM: Well, no, let me think.

MMt: Oh, Mr. Morrison, you would think about that and I would do something about it.

(Miss Mactaggart breaks the window)

MMt: And now, Mr. Morrison, I have _____. You need to _____ me, but first you need to _____ my _____.

MM: I told again and again there's no power enough to change the record.

MMt; Just suppose I go on _____ again and again.

MM: I strongly advise against any set up doing your own part. I would... I'm _____ you, woman!

MMt: I'm _____ you, Mr. Morrison.
