PRINCIPLES OF POLITICAL ECONOMY AND TAXATION.

CHAPTER I.

ON VALUE.

SECTION I.

SECT.

1. Ambiguity of the term value ; value in use and value in exchange . . . . .	5
2. Necessary presence of utility in articles of value . . . .	5
3. Causes of quantitative value ; scarcity, and so, in most cases, labour . . . . .	6
4. Scarcity . . . . .	6
5, 6. Labour as cost of production and foundation of exchange value ; this endorsed by Smith . . . . .	7
7. Who, however, afterwards erects other standards of value in corn, and labour as itself an article of exchange . .	8
8. Mistake as to corn, which is itself variable in value from many causes . . . . .	9
9. Labour also variable . . . . .	10
10. Smith's mistake with regard to it . . . . .	11
11. This further illustrated . . . . .	11
12. Real value of everything to be estimated from the amount of labour necessary to its production, or in the case of labour itself, to its maintenance . . . . .	12

SECTION II.

13. Though labour is undoubtedly different in kind, the previous law not invalidated, since the difference between these kinds soon adjusted and continues permanent . . . . .	15
